

Research Project

Augmenting the Effects of Methylphenidate: A Randomized,atty Acids Supplementation in Children with Attention Deficit Hyperactivity DisorderPlacebo-Controlled Trial of Omega-3 F

Project funded by own resources

Project title Augmenting the Effects of Methylphenidate: A Randomized,atty Acids Supplementation in Children with Attention Deficit Hyperactivity DisorderPlacebo-Controlled Trial of Omega-3 F

Principal Investigator(s) Ooi, Yoon Phaik ;

Co-Investigator(s) Gaab, Jens ;

Organisation / Research unit

Departement Psychologie / Klinische Psychologie und Psychotherapie (Gaab)

Project start 15.06.2012

Probable end 01.07.2015

Status Completed

The overarching aim of the proposed study is to assess whether omega-3 fatty acids supplementation can augment the effects of methylphenidate in children with ADHD.

Keywords ADHD, omega-3

Financed by

University funds

Add publication

Add documents

Specify cooperation partners