

Universität
Basel

Research Project

Apps and mental health: an interdisciplinary approach combining psychological and computer science perspective

Project funded by own resources

Project title Apps and mental health: an interdisciplinary approach combining psychological and computer science perspective

Principal Investigator(s) Wahl, Karina ;

Co-Investigator(s) Scholl, Philipp ;

Organisation / Research unit

Departement Psychologie / Klinische Psychologie und Epidemiologie (Lieb)

Project start 01.09.2019

Probable end 28.02.2020

Status Completed

This interdisciplinary project explores the potential of unobtrusive data collection by wearables in individuals with anxiety disorders and obsessive-compulsive disorder from two perspectives: computer scientists and psychologists.

Financed by

Other funds

Add publication

Add documents

Specify cooperation partners